

Who's Who in Granger

By Christine Parkhurst

Ken Lindsay is in his second term as the elected trustee of Harris Township, following one term as a board member. These positions follow an almost 30-year career with IBM, where he was a management consultant and associate partner.

Lindsay's family lived for several years in Clay Township before moving to Harris Township more than 30 years ago. His children attended P-H-M schools and his wife Shelly was the executive director of the Community Resource Center, a nonprofit organization that provided suicide hotline services, matched volunteers with needs, and maintained a directory of community resources and services, now part of the "211" function.

Lindsay is a fiscal conservative, believes in a limited but effective role for government, and is a member of the Republican Party. To date, the accomplishments he values most are bringing fiscal discipline to the township, increasing non-tax revenues, and both envisioning and creating Harris Township Park at Elm Road, which is just south of the library.

He is a proponent of the biblically based, financial teachings of Dave Ramsey, attended their counselor training education, and offered personal financial counseling as a ministry.

At IBM he developed educational offerings for companies wanting to improve their customer focus and quantify the voice of the customer. He taught at IBM's Advanced Business Institute in Palisades, New York, as well as in Canada, Mexico, Europe and Asia.

Closer to home, he taught college-level finance and marketing, the latter at the University of Notre Dame.

He graduated from a community college in Illinois, the public Northern Illinois University with a degree in finance, and later in life from the University of Georgia with an MBA.

Lindsay is a Cubs fan as was his grandmother before him, and is an unapologetic supporter of law enforcement and the firefighters of the Clay Fire Territory, on whose board he serves.

State Road 23 and Main St. intersection to be widened

The Indiana Department of Transportation has announced an intersection improvement project at State Road 23/Sample Street and Main Street.

At least one lane will remain open in each direction on State Road 23 through the life of the project, but motorists should expect delays in the area. Drivers will not be able to turn left onto Main Street if going northeast on State Road 23.

This project will widen the roadway and add turn lanes on State Road 23. Work will be ongoing through early August 2021.

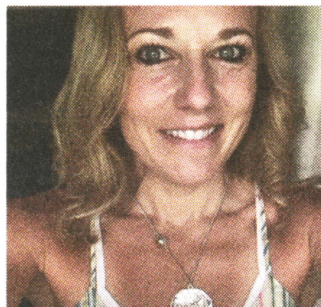

INDOT urges drivers to stay alert near crews and follow traffic directions carefully. Drivers are encouraged to allow extra time when driving through this area. Drivers should slow down and drive distraction-free through all work zones.
